

Windshield Ramblings from YOUR President – Elect

Colleagues –

I glanced at the time it was 12:42, April 9th and I mentally reached in my bucket and removed one of my wishes. I was on my journey to become President of the North Dakota Society of Radiologic Technologists. I had plans to get involved on a lesser scale as Vice President but the opportunity presented itself and I decided to take it. My X-ray career has had many opportunities. Most opportunities involve some level of risk. I also know opportunities always involve effort to make them better. Janelle Anderson, current President spoke of change, her quote was “Be the change you wish to see in the world”.

Opportunities involve change. Accepting the nomination as president-elect meant I was willing to invest 4 years of effort. It is not an individual effort, it is a group effort shared by all the members of the Board. We have been chosen by you, our peers, and colleagues to carry out the business of the NDSRT. Carrying out the business of the NDSRT to me, means improving the NDSRT.

I attended my first board meeting shortly after the last speaker presentation. According to the schedule, I arrived 5 minutes early. I was the last member to arrive. I thought these people meant to “git-er-done” – my kind of folk. I was directed where to sit. They placed me between the past President and the current President. Perhaps through some method of osmosis, I will learn the duties of my pending position. Then came my instruction on my responsibilities as President-Elect. I was told to learn what I needed to do in order to fulfill the duties of President by next year. No responsibilities – huh? Enough rambling. I look forward to my journey.

Thank you for this opportunity. I hope to add more “Windshield Ramblings” to your web-site as time goes on.

Warren Freier, President-Elect
NDSRT
